Commercial Space Technologies (CST)

Commercial Space Technologies Ltd. (CST) is one of the longest-established independent space consultancies in the UK, founded in 1983 and headquartered in Hanwell, London. Over more than four decades, CST has developed an unmatched database of over 700 technical reports covering launcher and propulsion reviews, spaceport analysis, spacecraft subsystems, market surveys, and regulatory studies. The company provides launch brokerage services, matching satellite operators with the optimal launch provider across global markets including Europe, Russia, India, Japan, South Korea, Australia, and New Zealand. CST manages the entire launch campaign lifecycle from contract negotiation and customs clearance to on-site technical representation at the cosmodrome. Beyond launch, CST delivers high-value consultancy to space agencies (including NASA, ESA, and UKSA), insurance and legal sector clients, and new industry entrants seeking technical or market intelligence. CST has managed satellite development projects between Eastern and Western companies (including Kanopus) and maintains active partnerships with Skyrora, Rocket Factory Augsburg, SSTL, Aeternum Space, and INNOSPACE.

This profile is generated from the live NewSpace Market catalogue. Specifications are as published by the manufacturer; every product links to a page where a request for quotation reaches the company directly.
